

Professional Biography for Eugene Clark

Eugene Clark Artist, specializing in murals, public art, anatomy, figure drawing, and painting. He received his BFA, College for Creative Studies, MFA, Wayne State University, with post-graduate study at Cranbrook Academy of Art. He offers intense programs in anatomy and figure drawing for Universities, Independent Art Colleges, and Pre-College Programs. He currently teaches anatomy, figure drawing and painting at Oakland University, Rochester Hills, MI. Other teaching affiliations include: College For Creative Studies, Wayne State University, Oakland Community College, Birmingham Bloomfield Art Center, Paint Creek Center, Orion Art Center. Studied with Russell Keeter, acclaimed anatomist. His work is published by Harper Prism. He produced a textbook titled "Anatomical Illustration for the Figure Artist."

He was recently commissioned by Oakland University to paint three large-scale mural paintings for the Human Health Building. His work has been exhibited nationally including the Pat Hearn Gallery, New York City, and internationally including the Braunschweig Academy of Art, Germany. He is selected to exhibit in the 2017 ArtPrize, Grand Rapids. <http://eugclark.wix.com/artist>