This ring is inspired by the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. I utilized small metal cutouts to capture the repetitive but clean architecture that MoMA exhibits.

Learning Statement:
This project allowed me to explore how artwork evolves and is a process. The most important thing I learned is that art doesn't have to be anything other than what you want it to be. I chose my dog Harley as the inspiration for my collage. He is a very spoiled boxer and my best friend. I looked at him and pictures of other boxers to figure out what contour lines to draw that would create the shape of his face. I think I caught his spirit through this piece!

Learning Statement:
I was learning how to create a symmetrical creature by folding the paper in half and using a transfer process. I had to make sure my transfer was good before completing the designs.
